Adding the endings -ing, -ed and -er to verbs where no change is needed to the root word

Rule: If the verb ends in two consonant letters (the same or different), the ending is simply added on.

The -le spelling is the most common spelling for this sound at the end of words. The -el spelling is much less common than -le. The -el spelling is used after m, n, r, s, v, w and more often than not after s.

Usually: If a suffix starts with a consonant letter, it is added straight on to most root words without any change to the last letter of those words Except when root words end in a -y with a consonant before it and the root word has more than one syllable.
